THE GAZETTE.

MONDAY MORNING, JULY 18, 1859. HORSE TALK

Some of our extra fashionables are astonishing the Avenues by driving three horses abreast-a la the Greek and Roman chariot races, and those of the Hippodrome. The notion comes from Paris, of course. Where else could it have come from? The effect upon the mind of the startled spectator is not so disagreeable as one would suppose. To moderate the tone of the thing, however, the middle horse alone usually gallops, and the two outside ones trot; thus combining the show of gallop with the solid merit of the less pretentious pace. Still, the arrangement narrowly escapes ridicule, and will most acsuredly not take among a people who really understand and sympathize with the great Quadruped. For a Frenchman, desirous of stunning the town with a novelty, at once classical and thundering, it may answer; but it won't do for a New Yorker, who keeps his eye upon his second-hand, and feels all the vastness of the gulf between two thirtyeight and two forty-a chasm imperceptible to Gallic eyes. A tight little team, all go and no fuss, is the New York notion of a turn-out.

Another thing about horses. You have observed, courteous reader, that, of late years, the stuggle among horse-fanciers has been to match their nags less in such trivial matters as color and general appearance, as in the infinitely more important particulars of pace, action, power, endurance. Formerly, the man was accounted fortunate who possessed two horses that looked exactly alike, although in all the great essentials of a horse, the two animals had nothing whatever in common. At present, a team to command the attention of men fit to own a fine horse, must be matched-whether they chance to be of the same color or not .-Observe, now, the blind stupidity of fashion. Many men of long purse and shallow pate, noticing that people of horse-celebrity drive horses of different colors, leaped headlong to the conclusion, that the last fashion was to harness together a white horse and a black one. Accordingly, we see men who use the Gentlemen of Beasts only as a means of ostentation, selecting horses solely with the view of getting a team as violently unlike in color as possible, which shows that even a good notion, when fashion adopts it, becomes folly.

If any one doubts the truth of the last remark, let him observe the proceedings of those young fools who occasionally exhibit themselves on the Bloomingdale road riding on horseback, followed at the distance of a hundred yards by mounted grooms. This custom, a relic of the feudal ages when the knight was followed by his faithful squire, has in Europe a certain propriety and utility. It is even there chiefly an ostentation, eschewed by men of sense, unless those men of sense are old and infirm, and need the assistance of a groom. In this country the custom is not merely useless and silly; it is an offence!-It is the vulgarest conceivable display of wealth; surpassing even the infamy of clothing servants in livery. An American young man that cannot manage his own horse, and is willing to lose the freedom and abandon of his ride, by tagging a menial to his heels, had better emigrate to some country where money without manhood is tolerated-if any such country there be. How astonishingly the horses of this island have improved during the last fifteen years! What numbers of superb animals may be met on a fine afternoon on any of the favorite roads about the city! And not only have the horses consecrated to pleasure improved, but all horses-omnibus horses, carmen's Dispatch, Paulding (Miss.) Clarion, and New horses, coal-cart horses, butchers' horsesall are of higher quality than they were formerly. Fifteen years ago, it was not known, apparently, that it pays better, for have a good time.

Indeed, we are sometimes half indignant to observe how much better some of us care for our horses than we do for our children. Look at this carriage-and its burthen. It is the carriage of a man who really loves his children a thousand times better than the his horses. But see! The horses are plump, by je 10 children a thousand times better than he loves sleek, lively, vigorous; showing that their nature is understood, and that they are treated according to their nature. But, ah! the children-how pale! how puny! how languid! which shows that their nature is not underderstood: and they are dwindling and perishing in consequence. Hail, coming day! when children shall again be as healthy as colts, and men as well groomed as horses .- N. Y. Ledger.

LADIES OVER-DRESSING WHEN TRAVELLING. -In Dr. Hall's admirable Journal of Health

we find the following: Our wives and daughters lose three-fourths of the pleasures of summer travel by the inexcusable perversion of true taste and commom sense, in dressing for a rail car or a steamboat as if they were going to a court reception. Cannot some few gentlemen have their own way for once, and thereby set the fashion by dressing their families for summer travel in plain, substantial garments, allowing no member anything beyond what a small carpet bag would contain, which should be the sole article which each one was to take care of? Let us all "put ourselves upon our behavior" and not on our dress. The fact is, the clerks and proprietors of hotels, the captains of steamboats and the conductors of railroads, see at the very first glance the real status of a traveller; the dullest chambermaid, the most supid cabin boy, and the laziest waiter, are neither dull, nor stupid, nor lazy, nor erring, either, in the estimate they make of people, as if by intuition.

I INVITE CITIZENS AND STRANGERS to call at my MANUPACTORY, No. 141 KING STREET, by [jy 8] H. COOK & CO., Sarepta Hall. BETWEEN WASHINGTON AND ST. ASAPH STREETS, and examine my large and handsome assortment of SADDLERY GOODS, as I do not intend to be surpassed in my line of business by any other city. I have on hand, and am daily manufacturing, as fine and superior an assortment as can be found in any of the Northern cities. My stock comprises as great a variety as can be found in any other house, consisting of HARNESS of all kinds, from the fine quilt work down to the dray, cart, and plough Harness; TRUNKS of every kind, fine Sole Leather, Steel Spring Iron Frame Ladies' Trunks and Bonnet Boxes, and all other kinds, down to the common Packing Trunks; Saddles, Bridles, Martingills, Whiss, &c., as fine as the finest; Buffalo and Fancy Robes, Driving Gloves, Horse Covers, Carpet Bags, Valices, &c., &c., of all kinds. Call and see for yourselves.

Thankful for the very liberal patronage heretofore extended, I solicit a continuance of the same, and pledge myself to spare no pains to give satisfaction. All goods warranted to be as represented.

CAUTION.—We beg leave to caution purcha-sers of our choice OLD MONONGAHELA WHISKIES against the deception and petty fraud which is practiced by certain parties in this city and in Baltimore, who have appropriated to them-selves exact copies of the Star Brands, long used and designed by us to distinguish our Old Whiskeys. We can assure our friends and customers, that the unrivalled quality, everywhere acknowledged, of our choice OLD WHISKIES, cannot be equalled by these ingenious invaders of our rights.

Our new establishment, Gibsonton Mills.

SOMBRERO GUANO. N calling the attention of the public to this valnable and recently discovered deposit of this fertilizing article, we will merely state, that like all other phosphatic GUANOS, its most valuable constituent is phosphoric acid, or bone phosphate of lime; and that its inercantile value, as compared with other GUANOS of its kind, may be casily determined by the amount of phosphoric acid or bone phosphate of lime it contains. In order, therefore, te give the public a thorough knowledge of what SOMBRERO GUANO does contain, we beg to refer to the following list of eminent chemists in different parts of the world, who have analyzed different cargoes, from average samples taken by themselves from the cargoes just as they arrive from the island, without drying or selection of specimens for analyzation. Each analysis will be of each chemist named:

exhibited, if required, under the original signature Of phosphoric acid, estimated as equivalent to phosphate of lime, it is found to containper cent. By Prof. Morfit, of New York,

Thus proving that the value of this GUANO is not determined by a SELECTED CHEMIST, or SELECaverage of the importations just as they arrive, and just as they are offered to the public for sale.
